NLDIMSR organizes a session on 'Digital Payments in India'

The Finance Forum of N. L. Dalmia Institute of Management Studies and Research organized an informative seminar on 'Digital Payments in India' on 11th March 2017 delivered by keynote speaker Mr. Saurabh Tomar, senior relationship Manager, Head business strategies and development / Project Management, NPCI, India.

The seminar kicked off with a welcome address and a bouquet of flowers by Mrs. Chetana Asbe, Professor, NLDIMSR. Mr. Tomar began with a classic example explaining the downfall of Nokia which was majorly due to the lack of persistent innovation and keeping up with the times. He then related the example to our country and how we should be more open to accepting the digital reforms and adopt digital payments into our day-to-day life. He explained how even though almost 50 crore people in the country are digitally educated and 80% of these people use the Internet via their Cell phones, the awareness regarding digital payments is not as widespread. He mentioned the emerging players in FinTech and how they offer various deals to attract customers to use more digital platforms, also explaining the various other factors that are major drivers of growth in the digital payments sector.

Towards the end, he put light on the new App BHIM which has been introduced by NPCI, Government of India and encouraged all the students to use this App while simultaneously showing them how to use the app. The seminar ended with Prof. Chetana Asbe felicitating the guest with a memento.
